22	I am answering for my daughter. She refuses to go to another Camp. #1, no telephone contact w/us. (I didn't like that AT ALL either). #2, she got food poisoning along with several other kids & adults. GS sent the adults to the hosp, but not the kids!! What gives here? There are so many dangerous food bourne illnesses any more, you should have sent EVERONE who got sick. It was bad fish. NO ONE EVEN called me. I was just about tackled when I got onto the grounds to pick my daughter up (2 days later) & they wouldn't let me see her at first! This in my opinion was VERY NEGLIGENT!! Had it been one of these bad bugs (E. COLI), she could have died!! I am a nurse & this REALLY fries me!!!! There are several really interesting looking camps I wouldn't mind her trying (they are pretty expensive though), but after her 1st experience, she refuses. I think you should let the parents & kids talk to each other while they are at camp. Not sequester them. I DON'T agree with that AT ALL!!!! She has attended day camp @ Wintergreen for several years, but we didn't go this year because it was at night. That defeats the whole purpose of Day Camp, so she has something fun to do while I have to work.	Nov 2, 2009 10:31 AM
